

Hi there, lovely lady,

You have selected Loretta.

Take a look at both slides. Each paragraph is a different scene. Memorization is not a requirement, but a smile is.

Prepare a one-minute song as well.

In gratitude,
Anita

LORETTA

I went on washing my clothes. What you mean then what? He ain't my only client. I got plenty more. I'm a washerwoman for a reason. So I don't gotta sit under no cracker's gaze for the whole day while he tells me to scrub that spot there or sweep that spot there. Or ask me to pick up the dust pan so he can get an extra look. I don't do this work so some old Yankee motherfucker can pay me half of what I'm due and say and I'm supposed to be grateful. I got clients from here to Stone Mountain. Talking about at least he's paying me.

nah missus. i ain't see nothing unusual. he just passed out cold. heart attack maybe? probably drinking too much hard liquor. [prolly got too scared of his own face in the mirror, hand on the whip...whast the matter mister, fraid of accidently whipping your ownself.] probably slipped and hit his head or something. i been in here washing all day. washing all day. see these hands? I can make you some tea missus, while you wait for the coroner. i got a pot on the stove all ready for pouring.
